Vol. 15, No. 79. The County Seat Paper NEVADA CITY, CALIFORNIA The Gold Center THURSDAY, OCTOBER 2, 1941.

Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

Come the first of January, and the writer of this column will have lived and made his living in Nevada City for nine years. The Nugget established by Arthur Willoughby in 1927 will be 14 years old in March, 1942. In the nine years we have owned and edited this paper we have found many friends whose respect we jealously seek to retain. If we have said little about our city government in the way of fault finding or commendation, it was because, by and large, we think our city government has done a good job. In a small community such as this, it is extremely difficult for a rascal to be elected to any office. Everybody knows every body else and knows his reputation. We have never had a dishonest city council. It would be impossible to elect one.

The recent rift in the city council evidenced by a suit on the part of two members to enjoin the other three, we think is unfortunate. The time and place to raise objections to any given course the majority of the city council chooses, is when such course is being considered. If any member thinks the action about to be taken by the council is illegal, he should rise right up in his seat and say so, then and there. We do not think important city work should be halted, on grounds of illegality, when the real reason may be a personal grudge against an employee of the city, or another member of the council.

We do not profess to know whether or not work proceeding at the corner of Pine and York Street, which is now hung up for an indefinite period, has complied with the city's charter or not. But if this is wrong, then all major work completed by the city during the nine years mentioned above, is also illegal. For instance each of the bridges across Deer Creek cost much more than the $499 which is quoted as being the maximum that a job may cost without submitting and advertising the work to contractors for bids.

As a matter of fact, we have long been convinced that the city counci has saved the tax payers thousands of dollars, by buying the machinery for street grading and paving, and keeping a city crew employed continually at street, sidewalk and bridge improvements. If the course the city has been pursuing is illegal, then two dissenting members of the council are now making a very belated protest. Two bridges have been built while they were members of the council. And, this is really a serious matter, the machinery purchased, trucks, graders, scarifiers, hot oil generators and mixers, etc all this investment running into thousands of dollars over a long term of years, will have to be junked, if the two city councilmen, plaintiffs in the present suit are able to maintain their contention in court.

Of course, we are not going to wink at, or condone an illegal action on the part of the city council. Rather we think they have done a day to day job of city improvement, which in no one day entailed an expenditure of as much as $500. It seems to us the sensible view would be to compare the city's action to that of the industrious householder who gradually rebuilds his home, puts in new foundations, reroofs it, paints it, plants a garden, keeps his lawns mowed, and in general converts an eye-sore into a thing of beauty and use. We think the city council has done just that for the City of Nevada.

And, we would not like to believe that any member of the city council would halt this public work in order to satisfy a private spite against other members of the council or employes of the city. If, however, the two dissenters on the city council, have uniformly voted against the large expenditures made in the past for city improvements, for city street working equipment, for trucks, and even for police automobiles, then they can enter court with clean hands.

We do hope that the attorneys, pro and con, who have been retained in what might be called this internecine strife, will use their good office to pour oil, good thick street oil if needed, on the troubled waters. Or perhaps this metaphor is too large for the present little controversy. It may be that a bucket of cold city water is all that is needed to settle ruffled feathers.

Here On Business—

L. F. Utter, owner of the Arctic Mine above Washington, is in Nevada City on business.

Chrome Mining Company Begins Dismantling Of Aerial Tramway

The Rustless Mining Corporation of Chrome, Glenn County, has purchased the mile long aerial tramway connecting the Empire, Pennsylvania and North Star Mines.

Dismantling of the tramway has started but it will probably be several months before the task of moving the equipment from here to Chrome is completed.

The tramway, which has aroused the interest of all visitors to Grass Valley, was built about ten years ago when the Newmont Corporation assumed, operating control of the Empire-North Star and Pennsylvania Mines. The original plan was to tram all ore from the North Star Mine and the Pennsylvania Mine to the Empire eighty stamp mill for treatment.

However, the increase in the price of gold and the development of a huge ore tonnage at all three properties resulted in a decision by the corporation to remodel the North Star mill and treat the North Star ore there. The Empire Mine ore output was increased to such an extent the eighty stamp mill was kept busy continuously handling the Empire's own rock.

The tramway, although purchased and erected by the Newmont Corporation at a cost of many thousands of dollars, was not used. The tramway crosses the Grass Valley-Auburn Highway at Taylorville, near the city limits there.

It is understood the Chrome Mine will use the tramway to convey ore from the mine to the mill on Heifer Creek.

Joseph Edward Day Wins Eleven Firsts At County Fair

Eleven first prizes and one second prize were won by Joseph Edward Day, 15, freshman at the Nevada City High School and son of Joe Day, prominent Gold Flat resident, in competition at the county fair, held in Grass Valley during the past weekend.

The remarkable record was not equalled by any other exhibitor at the fair.

Joseph won the following first prizes:

Old Drake, Pekin; Old Drake, Runner; Old Duck, Pekin; Old Duck, Runner; Young Drake, Pekin; Young Drake, Runner; Young Duck, Pekin; Young Duck, Runner; Blue Stem Wheat, Big Club Wheat, and Rye.

Joseph took second prize for alfalfa.

The father took first prize for Saffron and Concord Grapes and second prize for Winter Banana Apples.

WANTED—NEW QUARTERS FOR POSTOFFICE

Betty Martin West, Postmaster, calls attention of the public of Nevada City to the advertisement for proposals to lease postoffice quarters which is filed on the bulletin board of the local office.

These proposals are solicited by the Postoffice Department through Postoffice Inspector W. B. Houser at Oakland, California, and will be received in his office up to and including October 15, 1941.

The patrons of Nevada City are fully aware of the inadequate space and equipment in the present quarters now occupied by the postoffice of Nevada City. The growing activities of the community require additional room and working facilities for desired handling of the mail.

General building requirements, equipment specifications and forms of proposal, together with information concerning the provisions of the lease, may be obtained from the postmaster, Mrs. West or Inspector Mouser.

Panama Positions Lure Local Miners

Nevada County miners have left for the shipyards, for Hawaii and for various other places where they can sell their labor for more than they receive in the mines of this area.

Now many of the miners are leaving or are considering leaving for Panama, where a huge tunnel project has started. The high wages paid on the project offers an attractive lure to the miners and timbermen of this area.

However, little of living conditions are known here and it is very possible the miners may not find their jobs as attractive as the pay sounds.

Superior Judge Jones Will Resume Duties

Superior Judge George L. Jones, who has been ill for the past several weeks, was able to return to his home yesterday from the Jones Memorial Hospital in Grass Valley.

Judge Jones will preside over the law calendar proceedings in the superior court here tomorrow.

The well known local jurist has been missed very much about the courthouse and on the streets of this city and local residents are exceedingly happy to learn he will resume his normal activities.

Autumn Coloring In All Glory Can Be Seen

The autumn coloring in all of its glory can now be seen along State Highway 49 following the North Fork of the Yuba River, according to District Ranger Frank B. Delaney from the Downieville District of the Tahoe National Forest.

Black oak, dogwood, big leaf maple, aspen, alder, willows and black cottonwood are all now changing their colors and indeed make an impressive and beautiful sight. District Ranger Delaney advises that all color movie fans should at this time visit the mountain areas and ride or hike over the forest roads and trails in order to take colored pictures of the beautiful scenery.

Lively Session Of Council Anticipated

The city council meeting tonight promises to be an exciting one, inasmuch as it is the first gathering of the trustees since the filing of an injunction suit of Minority Members Frank Davies and John Ivey against the three other councilmen.

The suit, filed Saturday by H. Ward Sheldon in behalf of Davies and Ivey, as taxpayers, seeking to halt work on the York and Pine Street improvement project, is expected to be thoroughly aired at tonight's meeting.

Mayor Ben Hall will preside at the meeting.

MINING CLAIM LAW CHANGED, OWNERS TOLD

The attention of mining men is called to a change in the law rgearding mining claims, tunnel locations and millsites, recording the notice of location, marking the boundaries and performance of discovery work.

The new statute, received here by County Recorder John E. Nettell, reads:

"Within ninety days after the posting of his notice of location upon a lode mining claim, placer clam, tunnel right or location, or millsite claim or location, the locator shall record a true copy of the notice together with a statement of the markings of the boundaries as required in this chapter, and of the performance of the required discovery work, in the office of the county recorder of the county in which such claim is situated. The county recorder shall receive a fee of one dollar for this service".

With the notice of location there must be recorded a statement that there has been sunk a discovery shaft, tunnel or adit at least 10 feet in depth of length, or an open cut from which there has been removed not less than seven cubic yards of material. This discovery work must be completed within 90 days from the date of location of the claim.

A location of either lode or placer mining ground is null and void unless the discovery work is duly performed and a true copy of the location recorded within 90 days from the date of location.

MINERS FOUNDRY FILES SUIT AGAINST AZTEC COMPANY

The Miners Foundry and Supply Company of this city seeks $751.90 in a suit filed in the superior court here yesterday against the California Aztec Mining Company and Malcolm H. Carpenter.

The suit maintains the amount is due on a jig and tugger hoist the defendants purchased from the foundry. H. Ward Sheldon is the foundry attorney.

STOCKTON HILL SUED

The Stockton Hill Mining Corporation is named defendant in a suit filed in tre superior court here by the Gardner-Denver Company.

The machinery firm asks $922.50 allegedly due for merchandise and wares furnished the mining company.

Spends Vacation Here—

Chas. Lutz of Stockton is spending a two weeks vacation in Nevada City with his sister, Mrs. Annie Browning, and nephew and family, Arno Browning and family in French Corral. He killed a fine buck near French Corral on his first hunting trip.

FARMERS COMMEND CHAMBER

The farming communities of Nevada County are commending the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce for not competing against them for top prizes in the community booth competition at the county fair during the weekend.

The Nevada City exhibit, depicting an American Flag made from apples, pears, and grapes, was awarded tenth prize. There were eleven booth entries. Truckee Chamber of Commerce won the 11th prize.

The local chamber officers realized the exhibits were judged for diversity but deliberately designed the booth so it would not compete with the farming community booths.

The booth was considered one of the most beautiful at the fair and H. F. Sofge, local chamber of commerce secretary, said James Smith of Camptonville deserves much credit for the outstanding exhibit.

United States Cannot Have Too Much Gold In Post War Period

John P. Hutchins, San Francisco engineer, told the American Mining Congress in San Francisco that team work among miners is necessary in order that hydraulic gold mining can be revived.

"Unfortunate for hydraulic miners is the circumstance that Uncle Sam does not seem to think he needs more gold," said Hutchins, "In spite of the opinion of intelligent, disinterested observers that that United States cannot have too much gold in the post war period."

"Thus, producers of gold already are in difficulties. They have no priorities. This situation seems certain to continue and probably will get worse during the period of the war. These and other factors will delay large scale resumption of hydraulic mining."

SUPERVISORS TO SELECT NID DIRECTOR

The Nevada County Board of Supervisors, in session here today, were scheduled to select a successor to William Jaeckle of Chicago Park, deceased director of the Nevada Irrigation District.

William Ullrich of Chicago Park, who has submitted his application for the vacancy, appears to be the likely choice of the board.

The supervisors spent yesterday in the payment of claims. This morning the board was busy on road claims.

LAPIDARIES SHOW SPECIMENS TO ROTARIANS

The Rotary club at luncheon today were told the story the recent rise of a new hobby, that of finding, cutting and polishing stones. Mrs. George Legg and William S. Johnston of this city, both of them interested in this hobby, addressed the club. A fine collection of polished stones was passed around the tables.

Mrs. Legg in brief prelimary description of her hobby recited the fact the work of the lapidary is one of the oldest vocations on earth, that there are specimens of stones recovered from ancient Babylon, cut and polished 3000 years before the Christian era. The world, she said, is the hunting ground of the lapidary. She referred to the precious or semi-precious stones that can be found in this county. The very foundation of the planet is of stone, and wherever one travels always there are interesting specimens of stones to be sought, to be cut and polished and to be made into objects of permanent beauty.

The trays which were passed about the luncheon table were filled with some of the lovely specimens of stones, and work of the two lapidaries. They were much admired by the club members.

Lloyd A. Geist, vice principal of the elementary school, was welcomed into Rotary as a new member. Walter Carlson made the welcoming address.

The selection of Osborne was made after much thought by the directors. He was chosen for his ability and because of his opportunity to devote much time to the position. Osborne is a retired businessman.

The selection of Osborne has met universal approval. The new chairman will start immediately to outline a program. He will meet with the board of directors, composed of three members from each of the three chambers of commerce frequently.

HAROLD DEETER ACCEPTS POSITION AS SAFETY ENGINEER IN PANAMA

Harold Deeter left Tuesday night by air for Panama, where he will be employed as a safety engineer for the United States Government on a project.

The many friends of Deeter in Nevada City are happy to learn of Deeter's success in securing the wonderful position.

Deeter formerly was superintendent of the Mack Mine here. He has held positions as shift boss at the Murchie and other properties in Nevada County.

Sheriff Tobiassen Kills His Deer, Was It a Pet?

Sheriff Carl J. Tobiassen let it be known today he can outshine any law enforcement officer in the county at deer hunting—and that includes the game warden, Earl Hiscox.

For several days Tobiassen had been taking good natured ribbing from Hiscox because the game warden had supplied the Rifle Rod and Gun Club of Grass Valley with a deer for a buck stew—a deer which Tobiassen had promised the gun club he would furnish.

Hiscox, who seldom hunts, killed a four pointer when the rod and gun club members became worried about the ingredients for their stew after day by day passed and the sheriff had not bagged a deer.

Just the day after the story reached print in the Nevada City Nugget, Sheriff Tobiassen went out and bagged himself a six point buck.

And don't you think he didn't lord it over Game Warden Hiscox then! But Hiscox had a pretty good retort. When informed by Tobiassen of the kill, Hiscox said:

"You killed that deer? You should be ashamed. Why that was a farmer's pet. I thought all the hunters knew that."

FOUR BITS OF YOUR DOLLAR

Never before has a tax bill made the average citizen so tax conscious as the new defense levies bill largest revenue measure ever enacted by the American Congress, now in operation to amass three and a half billion new defense dollars.

Dipping down through new income levies into the pockets of the married person earning $30 a week and the single person earning as little as $15 a week, the new law raises to 22,000,000 the number who must file returns. Then there's a $5 "use" tax for the oldest jaloppy, and boosted tax costs on refrigerators, show tickets, washing machines, transportation, telephones, radios, phonographs, and even bowling alleys and playing cards and electric light bulbs—common things used by tens of millions of low income families.

Doubtless most of the newly tax-conscious citizens reason that giving till it hurts for defense is well worth while. But also, as they grow tax experienced and tax wise they will realize that the defense spending of today is grevious to bear largely because it is piled upon tax eating deficits from the peace time spending booms of recent years. That three and a half billion tax demand is serious only because it comes on top of federal tax already swollen to eight and a half billion yearly

That national tax total of $22,500,000,000 represents one-fourth of the total national income for 1941. Yet that tax levy of 25 per cent of the national income is expected to defray barely 50 per cent of all government vosts for 1941. In effect, the tax gatherer says to every citizen: "Cut me in on fifty cents of every dollar you earn this year. I want two-bits of it now—and you owe me two-bits."

Defense spending is, of course, essential "must" spending. But unless aroused taxpayers —recruits and veterans alike—unite to insist on government economy in all non-defense categories to offset insofar as possible the huge taxation the America we defend must resign herself to the disaster of national bankruptcy.—Contributed.

STATE CONCLAVE ON HOW TO HELP SMALL BUSINESS

A statewide conference luncheon centered at Sacramento, with simultaneous meetings at key points throughout California, has been arranged for Monday, October 6, with Governor Culbert L. Olson presiding, according to word from Sacramento.

Purpose of the conference it is said is to organize industrial plants to continue operations in the face of critical shortages of essential materials for non-defense rpoduction.

Local meetings will be tuned to the Sacramento conference by radio. They are to be told details of a definite plan by which contracts, now limited to major industrial plants, may be obtained by even the smallest of local shops.

Those scheduled to be heard at the conference, in addition to Governor Olson, are:

Richard Graves, executive director, Governor's State Council of Defense; Frank Clark, director of public works; William Cecil, acting director, state department of agriculture; Col. S. M. Smith, chief of defense contract distribution for OPM in the 12th Federal Reserve district; Lieut. Col. A. Hedge, U. S. Army Ordnance department; Harrison B. Judd, of San Jose, first contractor under the new plan; A. P. Giannini, chairman of the board, Bank of America.

The Nevada City Chamber of Commerce is cooperating with this statewide project and will be represented at the luncheon meeting.

BUSINESS SHOWS BIG AUGUST GAIN

Business activity in California and the Far West sky-rocketed to an all time high during Augusst, according to local officers of Bank of America.

From the bank's business review for the month it was learned that the August business index rose to 143.6 per cent of its 1935-39 average, showing a gain of 3.4 per cent over July's record high of 138.9, and a gain of 30 per cent over a year ago.

"Fears of instalment credit curbs, shortages, and rising prices, coupled with a greatly increased purchasing power sent retail sales zooming skyward," the review stated. "California enjoyed a seven per cent gain in retail sales over July, and 22 per cent over a year ago."

Construction figures quoted in the review reveal that non-residential building continues to gain, "but due probably to higher costs and scarcity of materials, home construction is tapering off after a summer of great activity." Construction permits in the west totaled $147,700,000 as compared with $133,700,000 in July.

The review's farm index continued to rise, stating that California farmers received $80,439,000 in July, 43 per cent more than in July a year ago. All major groups of farm products joined in price increases during August. The most spectacular rise occurred in cotton, which enjoyed a gain of 66 per cent over a year ago, while chickens, eggs and meat animals were up 44 per cent.

YARDMASTERS OFFER CURE FOR LABOR TROUBLES

By JAMES PRESTON

You can expect to be reading and hearing in the months to come about something called the "Boren-Disney Bill." Boren and Disney stand for Congressmen Lyle H. Boren and Wesley E Disney of Oklahoma. Their bill actually was born in Buffalo, New York, at the annual convention of Railroad Yardmasters of North America, Inc. This railroad labor union was worried about the effects of the rash of strikes in defense industries on the future of unionism. It drafted and unanimously adopted a resolution aimed at improving the caliber of union leadership and at freeing the labor movement from unscrupulous individuals who have reaped richly under the protection afforded by the Wagner Act.

These railroad workers said that they believed the union labor movement to be a "permanent foundation to the workers' rights,' and they felt, "as unionists, we must not allow this foundation to be weakened by a minority group who would destroy it to gain their mercenary ends." They designed their resolution not to destroy any of labor's prerogratives under the Wagner Act, but to protect these rights by providing an added measure of responsibility.

Here are the six objectives of the union's resolution, as incorporated in the Boren-Disney Bill:

1. Aliens are prohibited from holding any labor union office.
2. Union leaders must have had three years of experience in the trade represented by the union.
3. All officials of the union handling funds of the organization must be bonded.
4. A financial statement must be issued to each member at least once a year.
5. Stoppages of work because of jurisdictional disputes is forbidden, and jurisdiction ascertained by certified proof of representation.
6. A sixty day "cooling off" arbitration period is provided, with settlements to be retroactive.

The actual bill isn't much more complicated than that. Maybe that's another reason it's attracting more than a few cursory Congressional glances. But the main reason is this: when a union gets busy and proposes a constructive plan for getting racketeers out of the union business, it's news.

Every once in a while Mr. Johnny Q. Public does something that has Mr Average Congressman, with his ear to the coming election, completely confused. You will recall the amazement when Mr. Public said he wanted to be taxed and taxed plenty to pay for defense. Mr. Public was apparently pretty well informed on the dangers of growing deficits, staggering debt carrying charges and inflation.

Now Mr. Public, as reported by the American Institute of Public Opinion poll, is willing to have his wage or salary frozen at the present level if the cost of living can be prevented from climbing any higher. Sixty two per cent of the wage and salary earners said they'd be agreeable to such a move. Asked if they considered they were now being paid a fair wage or salary, some sixty four per cent said they were. Yet Mr. Average Congressman still can't believe it. So congress is still looking for the magician's formula that permits prices to be frozen while labor costs continue to rise.

The "planned economy" boys are hard at work again. For some months they've been digging around in the reports the professors prepared for the Monopoly (TNEC) Committee, building up outlines for government controlled cartels to cover all basic American industries.

They have quietly formulated plans calling for cartelization of industries like automobiles and auto parts, iron and steel, transportation equipment, hardware, building and construction materials, foodstuffs, textiles, beverages, tobacco and many others. The plan provides for the government controlling and supervising each cartel consisting of the private concerns within each of these major industries. As a corolary of the scheme, the New Dealers would establish "yard sticks" for each industry—a system of industrial T VA's.

The springboard for the plan is the argument that regardless of when the war ends and regardless of who wins, the cartel system under government control will be essential to the operation of any successful trade relations with the foreign nations. Without any public pronouncement on the work, the planners have completed the overall studies for the control of more than fifteen industries.

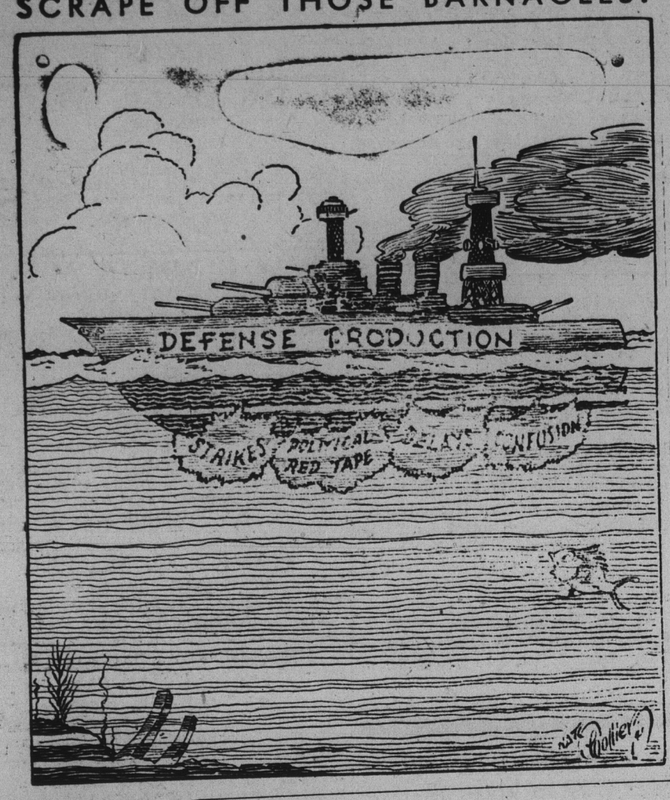
SCRAPE OFF THOSE BARNACLES!



WHAT WAGES ARE PAID IN U.S. AND IN GERMANY

To an American worker seventeen cents is only a little more than he pays for a package of cigarettes, but to a German worker in the lumber industry it's all he's allowed to get for an hour's work under the new wage scales set by the Nazi "labor trustees," according to a study made by the Labor Division of the Office of Production Management. Statistisches Reichsamt, official publication of the German government, recently announced revised wage scales for various industries, including the woodworking industry. These wage levels, the lowest ever set for the lumber industry in Germany, contrast sharply with rising wages of woodworkers in the United States which reached an all time high average of 57 1-2 cents in June 1941.

When Hitler came to power in 1933, the first thing he did was to abolish trade unions and collective bargaining. German labor leaders were put in concentration camps, exiled or killed. Since then wages and hours have been fixed solely by decree of Nazi party officials called "labor trustees".

German wage levels are further reduced by a Nazi tax of 13 per cent on every worker's wages. The place of the women worker in the Nazi scheme of things is made clear by the policy limiting women's wages to 70 per cent of the wages paid men for the same work.

Only the most favored groups of native German workers are permitted even these allowances. "Non-German" workers suffer further through a heavy "social equalization fee" (socialausgleichsabgabe) which is taken out of their wages. This tax is extorted from all workers in defeated or occupied territorites, but falls heaviest on Polish, Jewish and Czech workers.

In the United States children are strictly forbidden to work in the hazardous lumber industry, but German children are not only forced to work in the lumber industry, but are paid as little as 9c an hour.

NEWSPAPER WEEK

Newspapers everywhere in the United States began yesterday to observe their own special week by individually and collectively telling what they are doing, through the usual round of special articles, speeches, stories, editorials, demonstrations and exhbiits.

National Newspaper week, however, is more than an occasion for proudly showing off the many intricate steps that go into the accumulation, intepretation and dissemination of the day's news.

Besides that, it is a week in which newsmen celebrate one of those fundamental liberties that we all celebrate every Fourth of July.

Freedom of the press is an inalienable right that is guaranteed by the constitution. Like all other civil liberties, it entails many responsibilities.

The free press has existed—in one form or another and at one time or another—in almost every nation of Europe. Today there is not even a semblance of that freedom, or of any of the other freedoms, in any of the great nations of the old world. except Britain.

In the case of Germany and Italy, and, more recently, the conquered nations, freedom of the press ended when an overpowering government clamped on a rigid censorship and made the press a tool of the government. With this freedom suppressed. the government had less difficulty suppressing the other fundamental freedoms. Part of the blame in these countries, of course, must go to the newspapers themselves, for their oppposition to the blackout of individual freedom was another case of "too little and too late."

In France, the situation was different. There, the press itself forgot that freedom and responsibility go hand in hand. The press in pre-war France was the most corrupt of any democratic press in the world. And it is more than just coincidence that France was the most politically corrupt of any of the democratic nations.

As of today, the press in the United States is the freest and best of any in the word. The public has done its part in two ways. By beating off all attempts to muzzle or shackle this freedom, and by demanding in return, a fair, accurate and concise presentation of the day's news.

There may be a few newspapers alive today that have abused the freedom of the press, but most of those that have abused this privilege have not survived.

There also are demagogues in government who do not believe in freedom of the press, or any other freedom that may involve criticism of their own policies. These men are waiting their chance to use the present emergency as an excuse to stifle criticism, contending that it breeds disunity, and interferes with the defense program.

To these demagogues, however, we can only say that the freedom of the American press to dig for the facts and present them to the people is the best check there is on the menace to democracy that is inherent in any concentration of power.

On the day when government begins to decide what the press can and can not print, all liberties will go on the basis of government suffrance and not individual, inalienable rights.

Collectively, the press in this country is doing everything in its power to keep democracy a reality in the United States, by waging a constant fight for the right to continue fulfilling its obligation of making the American public the best-informed body of citnzens to be found anywhere in the world.

SAVE NOW, DON'T SPEND IS ADVICE TO FARMERS

By JAMES PRESTON

Right up near the top of the current Washington worries is the growing danger that thousands of manufacturers will not survive these days of stringent defense material rationing and that hundreds of thousands of workers will be thrown out of work.

It has been estimated that some 75 per cent of more than 100,000 plants making non-defense goods could be kept going by small allotments of materials, which if not made available would mean—especially in the cases of the small manufacturer—death to many of the plants and local ghost towns or depression areas. Under the present priorities set up non-defense industries unequipped to do defense work are out in the cold, no matter how little they need of aluminum, rubber, or some other strategic material. So the "talking-of-revising" stage has been reached on the priorities set-up, with a view to allocating small amounts of materials to plants where that is necessary to keep firms alive, towns from drying up, and labor employed.

To assist the government in saving as many jobs and as many firms as possible, the National Association of Manufacturers, through member state and local associations affiliated with the National Industrial Council has launched a survey of "Priorities Unemployment."

Industries all over the country will be asked: "Do you anticipate that within the next 90 days you will be forced to decrease production, either because of priorities and the raw materials allocation system, or the inability to get defense contracts or sub-contracts?" If the manufacturer answers in the affirmative, he is asked to tell how many workers have been laid off, the reduction in wages as the result, and what success he has had in his attempt to gain defense work.

Such detailed information will be invaluable to the Washington authorities in directing materials flow, in trying to avert shutdowns, and in transferring workers where dislocations are inevitabe concomitant of defense production.

CANTONMENT IS CHAMBER TOPIC

Several reports that seem to indicate that the cantonment contemplated by the U. S. Army will actually be established within a comparatively short time, were received Monday night at the meeting of the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce.

Among these reports was that the Southern Pacific was surveying a route from Wheatland into the heart of the proposed cantonment area, and that similarly the Pacific Gas & Electric Company was engaged in surveying lines for its service into the area. From Marysville came reports that activity in drawing up the blue prints and preliminary plans for the cantonment were in full swing. A. C. Presley stated that whether or not the cantonment will be built will be known within 45 days.

Presley suggested that while it would still be a gamble to invest money in housing or recreation facilities, that there was much preliminary work the chamber could do that would not cost any money. Regarding the housing survey recently made by a committee of which he is the chairman, he reported that 175 family rooms, apartments and houses had been reported as available for use in Nevada City and Grass Valley.

Nevada City's need of a hall in which community groups could meet was canvassed. Attention was called to the fact that Grass Valley and Truckee both have Veterans Memorial halls but that the supervisors are apparently opposed to building another one for Nevada City. H. M. Leete was named chairman of a committee to draw up a resolution to which signatures will be sought among civic and fraternal bodies of this city, for presentation to the Board of Supervisors. He was asked to name his own committee.

The bad condition of Pioneers park was attributed to the general neglect and disuse into which it has fallen. Measures to retsore and maintain the park as a place of recreation and beauty were discussed.

A report of the chamber's exhibit at the county fair was made by Secretary H. F. Sofge. He stated the prize money awarded for the chamber's outstanding booth, featuring the Stars and Stripes, done in red and white apples and grapes, left the chamber a margin of $26 profit.

Industrial output in the United States is just double that in the middle of 1938, when it had reached about the point which prevailed throughout the period of the first World War, according to the Department of Commerce.

The United States normally uses about 60 per cent of the world's rubber production, 40 per of the nickel, 40 per cent of the tin, 45 per cent of the chromium.

Approximately 15,000 Patriotic Civilians Aid Army Induction Program

Brig. Gen. Joseph O. Donovan, state director of selective service, announces that there are approximately 15,000 civilians serving without pay in the work incident to the induction of 800,000 men a year for peace time military training.

The announcement resulted recent checking of selective service personnel in California following establishment of added commtitees for the purpose of securing re-employment for discharged service men who have satisfactorily completed their year of military training.

This checkup, it is said, revealed a substantial increase of more than 1000 volunteer workers.

Paying tribute to the patriotism of these members of local selective service boards and other civilian agencies administering to the selective training and service act. General Donovan said that of the total of 15,000 gratis workers duties are divided between local board members, medical examiners assigned to local boards, appeal board members, advisory boards and their associates and medical advisory boards and appeal agents.

In the first six months of this year reserves set aside for federal income taxes by a group of 275 industrial companies, represented in the aggregate, 51.6 per cent of their earnings.

Other Bible citations will include: "A good tree cannot bring forth evil fruit, neither can a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit. Wherefore by their fruits ye shall know them," (Matt. 7: 18, 29.)

The lesson-sermon will also include the following passages from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The Science of being repudiates self-evident impossibilities, such as the amalgamation of Truth and error in cause or effect. There is but one primal cause. Therefore there can be no effect from any other cause, and there can be no reality in aught which does not proceed from this great and only cause," (p. 207).

PUNISHED FOR VIOLATION OF LABOR CODE

CAMPTONVILLE, Sept. 29.—The case of the People vs. Jay Gould and Richard Cleverdon, on charges of violation of the labor code preferred by Vernon R. Kennedy, Deputy Labor Commissioner, was heard in the local Justice Court Saturday afternoon before Judge A. M. Cleveland.

The defendants pleaded not guilty to not having posted notices of time and place of payment of wages and the matter was continued by the court to give the defendants time to produce more witnesses to substantiate their plea.

On the charge of not making payments of wages in accordance to the labor code, the defendants entered a plea of guilty and were sentenced to 60 days in the county jail, said sentence suspended provided that indebtedness of wages be paid by the sale of lumber on hand, said lumber to be liquidated immediately for said payment, and that the defendants in future operations maintain the semi monthly pay days as prescribed by law.

PROGRESS

All that is human must retrograde if it do not advance.—Gibbon.

Intellectually, as well as politically, the direction of all true prgoress is toward greater freedom, and along an endless succession of ideas.—Bovee.

Literary commercialism is lowering the intellectual standard to accommodate the purse and to meet a frivolous demand for amusement instead of for improvement. Incorrect views lower the standard of truth.—Mary Baker Eddy.

Let us labor for that larger comprehension of truth, and that more thorough repudiation of error, which shall make the history of mankind a series of ascending developments.—Horace Mann.

COORDINATING COUNCIL MAPS YOUTH PROGRAM

The Co-ordinating Council, with the chairman, Mrs. E. T. Bonner presiding, met Wednesday afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, to discuss plans for a continuing program of activities for boys and girls who at present have no form of amusement or recreation after the school hours.

The Co-ordinating Council was former three years ago following a startling increase in juvenile delinquency in this county. It was felt that to turn the energies of young people into channels of sports, dancing under supervision, and other amusements, much might be done to occupy the idle time of youngsters in worthwhile projects or innocent amusements.

At the meeting Wednesday it was proposed that an effort be made to obtain a room large enough to provide a place where, during the winter months, boys and girls of the city might meet for entertainment. It was suggested that club be formed and that, in so far as possible, the club be given self governing responsibilities.

It was decided that a committee consisting of Mrs. Bonner and Fred Garrison meet with Chief of Police Max Solaro this afternoon and discuss the possibilities of securing a suitable room in the fire house on Broad Street.

"THE NEWSPAPER— As Essential As Daily Bread"

IN AMERICA THE PRESS IS FREE— PRODUCT AND GUARDIAN OF DEMOCRACY

I AM THE NEWSPAPER

Born of the deep, daily need of a nation—I am the Voice of Now---the incarnate spirit of the Times---Monarch of things that Are. My "cold type" burns with the fire-blood of human action. I am fed by arteries of wire that girdle the earth. I drink from the cup of every joy and sorrow. I know no death, yet am born again with every morn---with every twilight. I leap into fresh being with every new world's event. Those who created me cease to be---the brains and heart's blood that nourish me go the the way of human dissolution. Yet I live on---and on. I am Majestic in my Strength---Sublime in my Power---Terrible in my Potentialities --- Yet as democratic as the ragged boy who sells me for a penny. I am the consort of Kings---the partner of capital---the brother of toil. The inspiration of the hopeless---the right arm of the needy ---the champion of the oppressed---the conscience of a criminal. I am the epitome of the world's comedy and tragedy. My responsibility is Infinite. I speak and the world stops to listen. I say the word, and battle flames the horizon. I counsel peace, and the war-lords obey. I am greater than any individual---more powerful than any group. I am the dynamic force of Public Opinion. Rightly directed, I am a Creator of Confidence. A builder of happiness in living. I am the backbone of Commerce. The Trail-Blazer of Prosperity. I am the teacher of Patriotism. I am the hands of the Clock of Time ---the clarion voice of Civilization. I am the Newspaper.
